

Rescue password information with UpdateStar Password Finder 7

UpdateStar Password Finder 7 is the latest addition in the portfolio of products of Berlin-based UpdateStar. Because losing password information is an annoying and potentially expensive experience, the new Password Finder now helps home users as well as administrators to find and backup passwords and related information.

Berlin, May 22, 2013 – UpdateStar, a leading German software product and services provider with more than 2.8 million monthly users, announces the release of UpdateStar Password Finder 7. The new version protects users from the loss of important password information.

Password Finder helps users to find and backup passwords, user names and other related information stored and hidden their computers. Because losing passwords is a very annoying experience, users can let Password Finder find and export this important information now.

Password Finder supports scanning of local computers as well as network computers and allows users to scan multiple computers at the same time. Users can export or print the information from within Password Finder and store it in a safe place for backup reasons. The database currently supports more than 100 vendors and software products.
